

ABSTRACT

A mold open and close mechanism for an I.S. machine is provided which separates the drive including the motor and the housing. The drive
5 portion is releasably connected to the housing so that the drive can be easily removed for repair or replacement.